

- I'll speak for myself, from my personal experience. I won't represent or categorize whole groups of people, or ask others to do so.
- I'll be specific, and avoid sweeping generalizations in favor of connecting what I know to personal experiences and specific sources of information.
- I will not criticize the views of other participants or attempt to convince them.
- I'll share airtime, not interrupting, and pass if I'm not ready or willing to respond.
- Following the dialogue, I'll speak about what happened in ways that don't identify others.

GROUND RULES

Source: Zeidler Center for Public Discussion

- I'll speak for myself, from my personal experience. I won't represent or categorize whole groups of people, or ask others to do so.
- I'll be specific, and avoid sweeping generalizations in favor of connecting what I know to personal experiences and specific sources of information.
- I will not criticize the views of other participants or attempt to convince them.
- I'll share airtime, not interrupting, and pass if I'm not ready or willing to respond.
- Following the dialogue, I'll speak about what happened in ways that don't identify others.

GROUND RULES

Source: Zeidler Center for Public Discussion

- I'll speak for myself, from my personal experience. I won't represent or categorize whole groups of people, or ask others to do so.
- I'll be specific, and avoid sweeping generalizations in favor of connecting what I know to personal experiences and specific sources of information.
- I will not criticize the views of other participants or attempt to convince them.
- I'll share airtime, not interrupting, and pass if I'm not ready or willing to respond.
- Following the dialogue, I'll speak about what happened in ways that don't identify others.

GROUND RULES

Source: Zeidler Center for Public Discussion

- I'll speak for myself, from my personal experience. I won't represent or categorize whole groups of people, or ask others to do so.
- I'll be specific, and avoid sweeping generalizations in favor of connecting what I know to personal experiences and specific sources of information.
- I will not criticize the views of other participants or attempt to convince them.
- I'll share airtime, not interrupting, and pass if I'm not ready or willing to respond.
- Following the dialogue, I'll speak about what happened in ways that don't identify others.

GROUND RULES

Source: Zeidler Center for Public Discussion